$80,000 RUM IS SEIZED IN HOME RAID

Bercovich Residence Raided by Police and Federal Dry Law Enforcement Officers. Liquor of All Kinds Found

Proprietor of Cigar Store at Hotel Says Bottled Goods is Property of Mother and Brother; Puts Up Bond

William Bercovich, merchant, Bon vivant and man about town, is at liberty today on $1000 bonds for violating the Volstead act, while prohibition agents are checking up the contents of about $80,000 in bottled liquors seized at his home, 490 Grand avenue, early this morning.

Bercovich appeared before United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie today and handed over $1000 in Liberty bonds for his freedom, after arraignment on charges of violating the Volstead act, while prohibition agents are checking up the contents of about $80,000 in bottled liquors seized at his home, 490 Grand avenue, early this morning.

The arrest of Bercovich and the raids on his place of business in the hotel and his home followed a series of investigations conducted by Federal Prohibition Agent A. R. Shurtliff and George Berner, W. O. Conning and C. C. Miller of the local morals squad.

Liquor in Basement Valued at $80,000

Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning the officers entered the Bercovich home on a search warrant issued by Commissioner Hardie after two instances of Bercovich selling liquor at his cigar stand and at home last night had been reported.

In Bercovich's room in the Grand avenue house was found bottled liquors valued roughly at $300, according to the complaint made by the arresting officers, and in the basement vault was discovered liquors valued at about $80,000, which were sealed.

Represented by Attorney Myron Harris in the Federal Court this morning, Bercovich contended that only the liquor found in his room was his, and that the bottled liquors belong to his mother, Mrs. Y. Bercovich, and his brother, Bert Bercovich.

The liquor consisted of nearly every known brand of alcoholic beverage, according to the arresting officers, and it was stated in court that Bercovich had admitted that some of the liquor bottled under reassuring titles was not genuine.

Genuine and Illicit Liquors on List

The list of liquors included whisky, genuine and illicit; cocktails, wines of various sorts, cognac, gin and rum. According to the complaint, Bercovich sold the officers whisky at $15 a fifth-gallon and cocktails at $15 a pint. The purchases are to be offered as evidence.

According to the officers, an operator was sent to Bercovich's stand in the lobby of the Hotel Oakland on Wednesday night to purchase liquor. After a brief conversation, Bercovich is said to have taken the operator to the Bercovich home in Grand avenue, where the sale was consummated.

On the strength of this alleged sale the officers pursued their investigations, which culminated last night with two sales—one from the cigar stand and a second, early in the evening, at the Bercovich home.

Commissioner Hardie, who was summoned and prepared the necessary documents calling for the arrest of Bercovich and the seizure of the liquor at the cigar stand and the home. The officers remained in waiting for Bercovich, concealed near his home, until he returned early this morning.

SEARCH IS MADE AT HOTEL FOR BOOZE

Immediately following the raid on the home, which is in an exclusive section of the city, the raiders went to the Hotel Oakland where a search was instituted for liquor. Nothing was found at that time, the officers stated and a second raid conducted this morning was productive of nothing.

According to the officers, Bercovich has been conducting a wholesale bootlegging business since the enforcement of prohibition but has been careful in his disposition of the liquors so that it was impossible to secure evidence against him.

The present raid was planned by Prohibition Director Samuel K. Rutter who came to Oakland today to conduct a thorough investigation into the matter and secure additional evidence.

Fate in Balance
MADALYNE OBENCHAIN, accused of complicity in the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, who awaits a jury's decision today.

OBENCHAIN JURY STILL HUNG TODAY

Panel Reported Deadlocked After a Night of Balloting.

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. LOS ANGELES, July 29.—After passing the night in Judge Shenk's "sleeping quarters," adjoining the jury room, seven women and five men today continued the discussion of Madalyn Obenchain's fate.

The court, refusing the jury the luxury of hotel apartments that have been accorded other juries in the Belton Kennedy murder case, had each placed in two rooms, one for women and one for the men.

To these quarters the jury, reported to be deadlocked, retired at 10 o'clock last night. At 9:30 the jury had summoned a bailiff and asked for a complete transcript of testimony, reporting that no verdict would be rendered before morning.

Judge Shenk, before he left, announced that he would not discharge the jury for another 48 hours.

Mrs. Obenchain, in her cell across the courtyard, declared that she had not given up hope of acquittal. "I shall hope for a verdict of not guilty until the moment the jury is discharged," she said.

Rumors about the courtroom persisted that the voting stood 8 to 4 for acquittal, but the conflicting reports as to the number of ballots taken showed that very little dependable information has seeped through the walls of the jury room.

Hughes Would Place Germans in Plan

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(By International News Service.)—Legislation such as that contemplated in the Underwood bill, providing for the settlement of German war claims by an American commission, would be "embarrassing" to President Harding, because that would compel the abrogation of present negotiations for a mixed commission. Secretary of State Hughes said today in a letter to Senator Nelson, Republican, Minnesota, chairman of the judiciary committee.

"The bill seems to deal with the claims as if it were a purely domestic affair," said Hughes' letter, adding that any settlement commission should include German representation.

WOOL PROBE IS PROPOSED BY CARAWAY

Democrat From Arkansas Stirs Storm by Urging a Hearing on Charge Certain That Senators Interested

Insinuation Causes Author of Resolution to Declare Any One Accusing Him on Rice Duty Is 'Unqualified Liar'

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. WASHINGTON, July 29.—By a vote of 26 to 24 the senate approved today the committee amendment imposing duties on woolen cloth for men's suitings. Seven Republicans voted against the amendment; and three Democrats supported it.

Investigation of charges that certain senators are interested financially in the rates of duties proposed in particular schedules of the pending tariff bill was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas.

Would Call Accuser 'Unqualified Liar'

The inquiry would be conducted by the judiciary committee, which would be instructed to report to the senate within ten days.

Also the committee would inquire into charges that senators, in the language of the resolution "are or were financially interested in the passage or extension of the so-called emergency tariff."

Caraway read from an editorial in the New York Herald, charging that certain senators were interested in the production of wool, and immediately was interrupted successfully by all of the senators mentioned in the editorial, with a resulting running cross-fire of debate which waxed warm at times.

Senator Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the Republican agricultural tariff bloc, said Caraway had voted for a duty on rice and that his interest in rice should be investigated.

Denying that he or any of his relatives had any financial interest in the production of rice, Caraway said he would say to anybody who now accused him that he "was an unqualified liar."

SENATOR INVESTIGATING "EVERY LITTLE SLUR"

Senator Bursum (Rep.), New Mexico, declared if the senate was going to spend its time investigating "every little slur" that was made in the newspapers against Senators it would accomplish little business.

Caraway replied he did not regard the charges that Senators were voting to take money from other people to put in their own pockets through the medium of legislation as "a little slur."

Bursum replied that he had no objection to the "world knowing about this matter," he denied he was a millionaire, as one publication had averred.

Caraway asked for immediate consideration of the resolution, but Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, objected, and the measure went over under the rules.

Senator Stanford, Republican, Ore., inquired of Caraway whether a legislator was disqualified from voting if he was interested, and the senator replied that he could answer best by reading from Jefferson's manual on which the Senate rules are based, and which said that a legislator ought to withhold and cast no ballot when his own financial interests were involved.

Stanford next inquired of Caraway whether he thought one could not vote for a principle and that principle would overshadow a personal or selfish interest. He asked also whether one should stand idly by and see an injustice done.

One Kidnaped, Still Missing, Another Severely Injured in Attack by Crowd and Carried Off in Automobile

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—James Mooney, 44 years old, truck builder, employed in the Southern Pacific shops here, was attacked and severely beaten today. Mooney, who lives at 3428 Sixteenth street, was walking on Sanchez street when two men approached and assaulted him with pick handles. He received six severe lacerations of the scalp and was taken to the Central Emergency hospital by a passerby, James B. Sheldon, in the latter's automobile. Later he was transferred to the Southern Pacific hospital.

CHICAGO, July 29.—(By International News Service.)—Two men were shot, another was kidnaped and a fourth was beaten here today in disorders attributed to the strike of railroad shopmen.

The shooting occurred at the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central railroad when a squad of non-union workers under guard passed a group of strikers assembled in front of the home of Clifford Bailey. The strikers are alleged to have hurled missiles at the workers.

Deputy Marshal J. M. Morgan, guarding the workers, shot Bailey in the thigh. Carl Baltakis, also a striker, was struck by another bullet.

George Wilson, of Wabash, Ind., a non-union worker, was missing today several hours after he and another worker were attacked by a crowd at the Wabash railway shops. He was seized while attempting to flee and carried off in an automobile. His companion was beaten.

STRIKERS THREATEN TO BURN COMMISSARIES

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 29.—(United Press.)—Striking coal miners of Kentucky have crossed the Tennessee border and are threatening to burn commissaries of the mines there and shoot down persons opposing their movement, a message from the sheriff of Clayborne county declared today. The sheriff asked the aid of additional state forces to suppress the invaders.

Adjutant General Brumit is expected to confer with Governor Taylor today regarding the request for troops.

STATE TROOPS PATROL TEXAS TOWN

DENISON, Tex., July 29.—The entire city of Denison was under martial law and was being patrolled by state troops today following Governor Neff's proclamation yesterday enlarging the military district which originally was confined to the railroad property. The governor's action, induced by an outbreak Thursday night when two negroes were kidnaped on the main street and taken to the Red River bottoms and flogged, was calmly received by citizens, who went about their business as usual today.

Military authorities are of the opinion the situation brought about by the shop men's strike is growing more serious and were prompted by this belief to ask that additional state troops be sent to reinforce the 300 already encamped here. Preparations are being made by the military for a lengthy stay, officers said.

Mathilde Sails for "Lovers' Meeting"

NEW YORK, July 29 (United Press).—Mathilde McCormick sailed today on the Majestic on the journey that, rumor declares, will end in a "lovers' meeting" with Max O'Rourke, former Swiss livestock proprietor of Zurich.

At the last moment Miss McCormick received newspaper men. "I'm going to follow my plans," she said, "but I'm not going to tell you what they are. I appreciate your position, but I'm just not going to tell anything about it."

MRS. M'PHERSON TALKS AT K. K. K. INITIATION MEET

Woman Evangelist Taken to Secret Meeting Place of Klan; Given Present.

Taken from her tabernacle in a closed car, Almee Semple McPherson, woman evangelist, was inducted last night, unharmed, into the midst of a Ku Klux Klan ceremonial and initiation in an Oakland hall. Neither Mrs. McPherson, Dr. W. K. Towner, her associate, nor reporters in the party were permitted to see the identity of the large number of hooded occupants of the hall, nor the hall's location. At the conclusion of the ceremony, where both Mrs. McPherson and Dr. Towner delivered sermons at the command of the Ku Klux leaders, the evangelists were returned to the same closed carriage to the Hotel Oakland.

According to Mrs. McPherson she received a telephone call recently, informing her that she would be requested to deliver a sermon some time after the evening service, at the same place where she was conducting the revivals here, the exact time to be designated later. As Mrs. McPherson is constantly being called upon to address other meetings besides her revivals, she stated that she thought no more of it until she was informed last night that the parties who had requested her to speak for them at a future time would call for her at 10 o'clock.

LED TO AUTO. Leaving the tent-tabernacle on Twenty-sixth street last night, accompanied by Dr. Towner, she proceeded toward her car when she was accosted by a young man who informed her that the car calling for her was a few paces up the street. The party led by the young man, who later turned out to be the chauffeur, led the way to the closed car. Two other men were in the car.

The party wound around through the streets of the city and finally halted before what later proved to be the hall and meeting place. The men in the party did not wear their regalia of hoods and gowns, but upon reaching the interior of the hall, stopped in a small room where they donned their outfits.

TAKEN TO HALL. Then in a roundabout way, up and down stairs, through doors and along long passage ways, the party was conducted to the door of the room where the initiation ceremony was in progress with a large gathering of hooded and white-gowned men. They were arranged in a hollow square formation with a cross in the center. Around the cross were grouped a number of men, not wearing the gowns, but with their faces masked. The party with their faces masked, entered the room and upon their right knees and the oath of the organization was being administered.

The ceremonial came to an end. To the strains of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," the party marched to the door of the room where they were finally brought to a platform where they were assigned to a seat.

The same voice which had directed the sentinel to let the party enter then addressed Mrs. McPherson and requested her to address the assembly.

DELIVERS SERMON. Mrs. McPherson gave an evangelistic sermon in which she told the story of Christ and what His coming had meant to the world and the salvation of the sinner. She implored all those in attendance who were not now Christians to mend their ways at once. She told of the powers practiced in apostolic times and that there was no reason why that power should not be in existence today.

At the close of the sermon Mrs. McPherson was presented with a gift of appreciation for her talk and informed that at a later time other things would be forthcoming. Dr. Towner was then called upon and gave a short address on evangelism.

Following his talk the visiting party was escorted out into the closed car by the same roundabout manner that they had been brought in. After a roundabout drive, the party was taken to a down town hotel where the chauffeur permitted them to leave the car and then sped away.

HUMAN CHAIN RESCUES GIRL. CHICAGO, July 29.—A policeman, a street car motorman and a bridge tender yesterday formed "a human chain" and, hanging from a bridge, rescued from the Chicago river Helen Cullen, a 15 years old, who had attempted to take her life by jumping into the water.

Special Services Held for Children at Tabernacle

By FRANK B. SCHUMANN.

The special children's service, which many of the youngsters had been eagerly awaiting for the past two weeks was held this morning at the tent-tabernacle on Twenty-sixth street, where the Almee Semple McPherson revival campaign is being held.

Thousands of the youngsters attended and a billowy sea of white, topped by shining, smiling faces, occupied both the choir loft with a seating capacity of over three hundred and the huge auditorium of the tent.

An evangelistic sermon addressed directly at the children was delivered by Mrs. McPherson, and was followed by an altar call, which was responded to by scores of the youngsters.

Many of the sick and orphaned children in attendance were presented with candy and toys, which had been donated for the purpose. Each child who indicated that there was no Bible in his home was presented with one, autographed by Mrs. McPherson.

The old folk held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the special request of the thousands who attended a similar meeting last week. More than 1500 acknowledged that they were over sixty and the record in age was that of a man who was within less than a year of the century mark. The oldest man, who occupied special seats of honor on the platform was Mrs. Phoebe L. McKay, who is eighty-four years of age and one of the three survivors of the Whitman massacre.

OLD-TIME HYMNS. Old-time hymns, many of which had been heard in Oakland for many years, were selected and sung by the audience. In many cases the choir and choir leader did not know the songs and were unable to lead. The person making the selection was then called upon to lead. One thin, shuffling voice would start an old familiar strain, and as the audience caught the song and old memories were revived, they would join in.

Rev. James Sunderland, the oldest minister in attendance, offered the closing prayer. Mr. M. A. Pasco, 81 years of age, sang a solo, "A Happy Pilgrim." J. I. Huff also offered a solo.

Following the introductory service, Mrs. McPherson addressed her two children, Roberta and Ralph, who have come here from Los Angeles to accompany her on her trip to Australia.

OBJECT OF PREACHING. The address of the afternoon dealt with the power and object of preaching. Mrs. McPherson pointing out that it was the "Great I Am," and not the "Great I Was," who was the inspiration of the real minister. She pointed out that there was no excuse for a minister to preach an apologetic gospel.

"It is too bad if Christ only came to be with us for a short time," she pointed out, said Mrs. McPherson. "It certainly would have been too bad if the people of 1900 years ago were the only ones to be benefited by His coming."

She continued, "Our problems are as great and practically the same today as they were during the time Christ was here in the flesh. If the Jews are empty, the altars deserted, and all kinds of worldliness in existence when He preached the 'Great I Was,' we need not be surprised."

Moses and his disciples preached the 'Great I Am,' and not the politics, psychology and community uplift, which is heard in many of the pulpits today."

ORGANIZATION COMPLETE. Announcement as to the completion of the organization to be known as the Pacific Coast Four Square Gospel association was made at the opening of last night's service and the following officers were unanimously elected: Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson, president; Dr. W. K. Towner, pastor of the First Baptist church of San Jose, first vice-president; Dr. Charles S. Price, pastor of the Pacific Coast Congregational church at Lodi, second vice-president; Fred Hart of Salinas, recording secretary; Claude Stutsman of San Jose, field secretary, and Rev. H. D. Harkins of the M. E. church at Portola, treasurer.

Dr. Price led in the opening prayer last night and the musical numbers in the preparatory service included a selection by the Hitchcock Sisters trio, a solo by J. B. Jones, "Holy City," and a duet by Rev. J. I. Huff and Rev. J. M. Reed.

"The Steps That Lead from Earth to Glory" was discussed by Mrs. McPherson. She pointed out the various things practiced by people would indicate whether they were Christians. She pointed out that the traits both ways were marked in the highways crossing the continent, and there was absolutely no excuse for any one not

STRIKERS HERE EXPECT CALL TO RETURN TO WORK

Union Leaders Inform Men of Probable Order Early in Week Following Peace

Western railroad executives today echoed the belief expressed by Eastbay labor leaders yesterday that the nation-wide strike of from 450,000 to 600,000 railway shopmen will be concluded within the next few days, with Tuesday, August 1, as the most probable date.

This assertion tallies closely with that made yesterday by C. Goad, head of the Eastbay strikers, who said that authoritative information had reached Eastbay strike headquarters to the effect that instructions for the shopmen to return to work might be expected from their national leaders within the next few days.

Railroad executives refused to say whether or not they were contemplating yielding on the seniority issue, but the terms proposed yesterday by President Harding, following a conference with Eastern railway chiefs.

According to these terms the strikers returning to work would rank junior to the fellow craftmen who had remained at work. Goad declared today that they would not consent that any seniority rights whatsoever should be allowed the strike-breakers.

Following his assertion yesterday that the striking shopmen would not consent to rank below those who had remained at work, Goad declared today that they would not consent that any seniority rights whatsoever should be allowed the strike-breakers.

In a strike bulletin issued today from Pacific Coast headquarters of the railway shopmen, in San Francisco, S. Gordon, secretary of Federation of Railway Employees No. 114, declared that a settlement of the strike was expected within the next few days, but warned that the strike to avoid official notification to this effect "before being stamped."

"All quiet" is the substance of the first of the reports to be made to Federal headquarters in San Francisco by the strike leaders. S. Gordon, secretary of Federation of Railway Employees No. 114, declared that a settlement of the strike was expected within the next few days, but warned that the strike to avoid official notification to this effect "before being stamped."

"Mail your letters early," was the request sent today by Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, who declared that the daily "peak load" between 5:30 and 8 o'clock p. m. again is overtaxing the facilities of the local post-office.

A campaign to induce local businessmen to mail their outgoing correspondence in the late morning or early afternoon was successfully conducted some time ago. Rosborough pointed out, but increase in the amount of mail handled in the local office has made another such campaign necessary at this time, he said.

According to 22 mail trains leaving Oakland between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., Rosborough said today. Many letters are missing important dispatches and are being delayed as late as two or three hours by not being mailed before noon or soon after lunch.

According to Postmaster Rosborough "mail-early" campaigns have been conducted in the large Eastern cities with great success.

North Dakota Seeks New Grain Grade Act

FARGO, N. D., July 29.—Initiative petitions for a bill to provide for new state grain grading act to be voted on at the general election in November are being circulated. It was announced by the North Dakota headquarters of the Non-partisan league today.

This bill is aimed to take the place of the law enacted by the league legislature in 1919 and declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court last April. It provides for the employment of a supervisor of grades, weights and measures, to administer the act. This official would be authorized to prescribe the margin of profit for elevators, enforce the United States grand grades standards and compel correct grades, weights and measures.

In order to go on the ballot the initiative petition must have at least 10,000 signatures by August 8.

RESCUED FROM DEATH. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 29.—The four men who were caught in the burning shaft of the Midway Coal company near Murphysboro were recovered last night, Robert M. Medill, director of the state mines and minerals, said today.

Persons do not bury their dead but leave them to the fowls of the air.

OLDEST VOTER IN ALAMEDA CO. ON LIST AT 98

Charles F. Lohse, 2949 Summit street, is the oldest voter in Alameda county, so far as County Clerk George Griggs has been able to ascertain. Lohse, who is 98 years of age, was registered yesterday at his home by Deputy H. W. De Leon. He is a Republican.

Lohse is a pioneer of Oakland and has voted here continually for more than fifty years, according to officials. For several years he has been the oldest registered voter in the county. His registration certificates remain to be checked.

7 LITTLE GIRLS SENT TO CAMP

Seven little girls, the guests of those who subscribed to the Association of Little Girls' Camps, left today for the Oakland municipal camp in the high Sierras. For two weeks they will learn what life among the mountains, finished off by the summer months.

Two mothers, dependent upon widows' pensions, went along as chaperones. All the small maids for whom special appeal was made were included in the trip. Four of the guests were under the 12-year limit, requiring but $15.65 each to finance their outings.

In the unit was a young child who last week fainted at her work. Without the vacation and relief from the burdens which beset her, the social workers declare that she would have become a physical wreck.

The summer camp on the Tuolumne river will be closed August 26, according to the present plans of the recreation department. The closing will be a day of celebration to justify its continuance a longer period, however, there is a possibility that the closing may be postponed.

LIGHT NECKLACE POLES GIVEN BY MERCHANTS

Adding to the donations for the "necklace of light" around Lake Merritt, five Oakland merchants and business men today donated poles to the city. They included W. E. Gibson, H. C. Appleby, S. L. Swann and the John Brunner Company.

The poles now exceed 150 in number and clubs and business houses are daily adding to the number. The poles will be under way shortly.

Patent Attorney Talks on Inventions

Many inventors fail short of success because they lack business sense and the ability to commercialize their inventions, according to J. B. Gardner, patent attorney, who addressed the One Hundred Per Cent Club at his luncheon meeting at the Hotel Oakland yesterday. He declared that 90 inventors out of 100 fail because of these reasons.

"About 5 per cent of the credit for the invention is due to the inventor, 45 per cent to the lawyer, and 45 per cent to the man who makes it a commercial success," he said.

A million and a half patents have been granted in this country, according to Gardner. One of the greatest achievements in California along the line of inventions was the caterpillar tractor, the speaker said.

Swedish Commission Probes Profiteering

STOCKHOLM, July 29.—The profits of the Swedish middlemen, dealing in necessities, especially food supplies, are menaced as the result of the investigation into living costs by a commission of experts appointed by the Swedish government. The commission sought information on intermediary profits and their influence on living costs with a view to eliminating unnecessary profits, thus cutting down retail prices, and has just issued its report. It makes some drastic recommendations. Official action is expected.

She was the last surviving member of a prominent family and long line of actors, whose home was originally in Baltimore.

BURNED BY HOT TAR. ALAMEDA, July 29.—A ladle of hot tar was turned on the arm of O. J. Wells while he was tarring a roof at Hibbard street and Lincoln avenue this morning. Wells was severely burned and was treated at the Emergency hospital by Dr. Arthur Hieronymus, under which he was taken to his home in Oakland by the police ambulance.

tional evidence against the merchant. Throughout the day the officers checked up the contents of the bottles in the Berkovich vault, preparing an itemized list.

The reason for doing this, they said, was to be enabled to compare the list of liquors found with the list of liquors removed from the former Berkovich residence at Nineteenth and Market streets some time ago.

SEIZURE OF LIQUOR CAREFULLY PLANNED. According to Berkovich's attorney this liquor was moved on a permit secured by Mrs. Berkovich and the contention of the defense is that a checking up by the officers will show that the liquor in the vault belongs to Mrs. Berkovich and her son, Bert, and not to the defendant.

The Berkovich raid was one of the most carefully planned seizures of the year and the liquor aggregates more than ever has been seized in this city, according to the officers.

Berkovich refused today to make any statement concerning the charges preferred against him.

India Emperor Is Incognito in Paris

PARIS, July 29.—Dressed in a business suit of sober black, the emperor of India, a small, thin, yellow-skinned man has been a constant visitor recently to the museums of art, painting and sculpture in the French capital. Few people recognize him, but he is the Emperor of India, Emperor of Hindustan, Emperor of China, who, adorned in flowing robes of silk, his hair decorated with gold lace, the Red and Yellow Order of the Dragon of Annam, his breast almost hidden by a large plaque of pure gold set with huge diamonds, was seen in the presidential box at Longchamp on the day of the Grand Prix.

A few years ago no one in his capital of Hue was permitted to stand erect before the Emperor, or look him squarely in the eye. Yet in the museum of Annam, he came about and bowed him out of the way when he stood too long before a work of art.

Home Rule Said to Be Hope of India

FREMANTLE, Australia, July 29.—Home rule for India, with dominion status, is the objective of the Indian people, according to Mrs. Annie Besant, the well known Theosophist leader, who arrived here recently.

In the course of an interview Mrs. Besant said everything would be well in India, she thought, if British only would grant the country home rule.

The people, since Gandhi's imprisonment, were beginning to appreciate that he was not the divine being able to work miracles, which they had believed him to be. She anticipated that agitation along constitutional lines would replace revolutionary tactics and would bring peace to India within a reasonable time.

KLAN OFFICIAL TO JOIN L. A. TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—H. C. McCall, head of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas, has arrived in Los Angeles to consult with G. V. Price, king of the Klan here, before the trial on the defense of 37 men, who will go to trial here August 7 on charges of participation in the Inglewood raid, early in the year.

The raid resulted in the death of one member of a band of 250 men, who visited the bonded winery of Pidel and Mathias Eldredges, an Inglewood, Cal., winery, and the wounding of two others. The man killed was M. B. Mosher, a constable. He and the others were said to have been masked.

S. F. Society Woman Sues for Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Mrs. Constance F. Kentfield, known to the professional world as Burette Berneau, a prominent social leader here, has filed suit for divorce against Howard Kentfield, bond salesman, whom she accuses of extreme cruelty.

According to the complaint Kentfield, son of E. E. Kentfield, a real estate capitalist, is possessed of an ungovernable temper and alternated paroxysms of violent anger with spells of extreme remorse.

Mrs. Kentfield, who is Miss Constance Martin, daughter of John Martin, a wealthy importer and exporter, became the bride of Kentfield at a big society wedding in 1917. She made her stage debut in 1920, and was separated on June 30 of this year.

Married, Deserted in 3 Days; Wife Sues

Deserted three days after she became a bride, Mrs. Mary Ross has filed suit for divorce from Edward Ross, a construction foreman of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. They were married in San Rafael, November 25, 1921, Thanksgiving Day. Three days later Ross told her, according to the complaint, that he was called away on account of business. He never came back, although he corresponded with her.

In his first letter, she alleges, he told her their marriage was a mistake. She answered him with a letter asking him to reconsider, and declaring she could not consider a separation "until I know the whole truth." Despite further pleas to him to return, he has steadfastly refused, the wife alleges.

Driver Arraigned On Drunk Charge

He was released on the deposit of $500 cash bail. The preliminary examination was set for August 8. He was arrested yesterday afternoon at Forty-first street and Shattuck avenue by Policeman S. Britt after a chase of several blocks.

SHREWDNESS OF RUSSIAN PEASANT IS RECOGNIZED

Possesses Natural Intelligence Is Discovery of Relief Workers.

KAZAN, July 29.—The Russian peasant, upon intimate contact, has been found to be not so illiterate or so stupid as it has been the habit to represent him. While he may not always be able to read, he possesses a natural shrewdness and intelligence which stand him in good stead. A practical common sense is often a good substitute for book learning.

American Relief administration workers have had much to do with the Russian peasant in their various activities in these lands, and have come to regard him with respect.

"How is it," one of the Russian interpreters was asked, "that although these peasants cannot read and write they seem to be able to make accurate computations, and to master the intricacies of the Russian currency? They seem to understand perfectly even the new bank notes in which those marked 100 rubles equal those put out last year which were worth 1,000,000."

"They appreciate the value of stupidity," was the answer. "They like to appear simple, more simple than they are. It is partly a pose with them, but it has its practical side, too. They appear guileless and manage to drive a good bargain because their very guilelessness always the suspicion of the person with whom they are dealing."

"I hand them a 1,000,000 ruble note. 'What is this,' they ask. I tell them that it is a million. They accept it. But try handing them a 100,000 ruble note and say that it is a million. They will shake their heads. You may point out that it has as many ciphers following the figure. They will not accept it. 'But,' you persist, 'you cannot read, why do you think I am doing to you?' But I have never seen that sort of a million before," they answer and they will not take it.

"You take a paper to a peasant to be signed. He looks at it and says what it is about. You read it to him. He nods but protests that he cannot write. 'Let someone else write my name on it,' he says and later he may repudiate the agreement, saying that he never signed it and did not even know what it contained."

"I believe that many of them who can both read and write are careful to conceal that knowledge, believing that it will to their advantage to do so. They are not so stupid as they appear."

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell him so.

OAKLAND PRAISED AS BEST LOCATION FOR RESIDENCES

Guy W. Wolf Tells of City's Beauty, But Lack of Transportation Facilities.

"Oakland has the last great undeveloped residence districts within a reasonable area of a city that are to be found in any large population center on the Pacific Coast. This was the statement made at the weekly luncheon meeting of the High Twelve club at the Hotel Oakland yesterday noon by Guy W. Wolf, director of real estate of the California Real Estate Association.

"The hills that lie back of the Eastbay communities are the equal of the Acropolis of Athens in their beauty and residential possibilities. People will not buy lots nor build homes in these outlying districts, however, without adequate street car transportation facilities.

"Our present traction company is doing the best it can under the circumstances, but it is insolvent. It has not built any extensions in twelve years, and during that time the Eastbay communities have nearly doubled in population.

"The company has plans for nearly fifty miles of extensions to its lines, but cannot afford to build them under present conditions. It is today going through reorganization which is practically nothing but informal bankruptcy. Even after the reorganization I believe it will not be financially able to make both ends meet."

According to Wolf the only solution to the problem is the transportation amendment to the state constitution, which would place all roads on a solvent basis, restore their credit and enable them to make extensions and improvements in service when and where needed. The measure proposes to give the Railroad Commission the power to grant franchises to all forms of local and interurban transportation.

First Moore Rally Is Held in Oakland

Predictions that Charles C. Moore will carry the southern part of the state were made last evening at the first Moore rally held in Oakland. Many supporters from Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and the remainder of the county were represented and pledged their cooperation.

Clinton G. Dodge, chairman of the Alameda County Campaign Organization, presided, and Peter J. Crosby, state campaign manager, gave a report of what had been accomplished in the state. He declared that the most conservative reports received from the south indicated a majority of at least 80,000.

Among the speakers were Charles C. Steck of San Francisco, Leo S. Robinson of Alameda, W. E. Denison of Alameda, H. Avery Whitney of Oakland, L. Cameron Fraser, chairman of the finance committee, Theodore F. Dredge, and A. J. Barrett.

The meeting last evening was one of a series of preliminary rallies which the Moore forces are holding all over the county. Following a rally in Berkeley Thursday evening, campaign plans were perfected and a Berkeley headquarters opened.

Wells Drury Talks To Carmen's Union

Wells Drury, candidate for county treasurer, spoke before the Carmen's union of Alameda county in the labor union headquarters in Oakland Thursday evening upon the invitation of President W. J. Moorehead.

Drury was introduced as a veteran member of the typographic fraternity, who carried a card for many years, and who by reason of surviving to the craft had been elected to honorary membership in three typographical unions, namely, San Francisco, Sacramento, and Virginia City, Nev. Drury recounted some interesting experiences in his career as printer, publisher and editor.

Drury gave assurance that if elected county treasurer he would punctiliously attend to the affairs of the office, and would not delegate the authority and control of the county's financial affairs to deputies and assistants.

This is a big office, and it is a man-sized job to take care of its details. "If chosen by the electors of the county my determination is to conduct the county's business rigidly according to law, and in strict business principles, unswayed by prejudice, preference or personal bias. My only guide will be to study the welfare of the entire county, and whatever is found to be necessary to accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number, that I will do." Drury was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his remarks.

The following committee will assume all arrangement duties: Fred Hirschman (chairman), A. J. King, T. H. Johnson and George Boremann.

"Getting results from the legislature is a matter of experience just as in the business world," declared Assemblyman Arthur A. Wenderling at a meeting of the Berkeley Citizens' League last evening. "During my term as assemblyman I received a rush order from Berkeley. Twelve hours before the legislature adjourned, I was asked to put through a bill relating to the hours for the opening and closing of the polls in school elections. By reason of the fact that I had had ten years experience in legislative procedure, I was able to get the bill to the printer, the engrossing clerk and have it passed, all within a period of twelve hours. This is a tangible example of what it means to have experience in legislative procedure."

R. W. Barrett, executive secretary of the Judge Charles A. Shurtliff for associate justice campaign, has received from J. Cal Ewing, owner of the Oakland baseball club, a letter endorsing Judge Shurtliff's candidacy, in which he says:

"I write this to inform you of the widespread popular sentiment in Alameda county and elsewhere I have been in the state, in favor of Mr. Justice Charles A. Shurtliff in his candidacy for the California supreme court. This is particularly gratifying to me, because I have known Justice Shurtliff for over a quarter of a century and have become well acquainted with his splendid character, his deep-rooted instinct for justice and his profound sympathy for all his fellows."

Frank Ryan, for twelve years chief deputy in the constabulary office in the township which embraces all of Oakland east of Lake Merritt, is in the race for constable for Brooklyn township. Fernhoff, Milton Sabler and M. C. Chapman.

MacLafferty's campaign from now on until the election on August 29 will be directed from the new headquarters at 1444 San Pablo avenue, opposite the city hall plaza.

The candidacy of Richard M. Lyman, Jr., for assemblyman in the thirty-seventh district was furthered today by the entrance into the committee of Clifton E. Brooks, incumbent, who will lend his aid in the campaign. Other committee-men in the 30th precinct of the district are being selected and will be announced early next week, it was said.

"Candidates' Night" will be celebrated at the Diamond Improvement club at its meeting in Woodmen's hall, West Fourteenth street and Fruitvale avenue.

Every candidate for national, state and county offices have been invited to attend.

The candidates in Oakland are meeting on one common platform, where there is no discussion, and that is "Save Oakland's Seguelas."

Most of them have pledged themselves to speak about the acquisition of the proposed Redwood Memorial park at the bond election on August 29, the date of the primary.

Monday night the candidates will reaffirm this promise.

Special entertainment features are being arranged for the occasion, according to Ernest J. Engler, president of the club.

Women voters are rallying to the standard of Judge Emmet Seawell, candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, his local headquarters announce.

Two Runaway Boys Are Caught at Rodeo

ALAMEDA, July 29.—The salinas rodeo proved the undoing of Jules Didier and Elias Aroloni, Alameda youths who ran away from their homes last week to wrest their fortunes from the big world. The youngsters had headed for Los Angeles, intending to cast their lot with the moving picture concerns. When they reached Salinas, the rodeo was just starting, and the temptation to lay over and see the sights was too strong to resist. It also proved their undoing, for unfeeling policemen, notified in advance of the probable presence of the two, captured them in as soon as they arrived in town. The Alameda police were notified and relatives of the boys went to Salinas last night to bring them home.

SAN JOSE, July 29.—Word has been received at police headquarters in this city to the effect that Miss Barbara Lewis of Hayward, reported kidnaped from here Wednesday by a Mr. and Mrs. John Turner of Lathrop, Calif., was married on the afternoon of the same day in the interior town.

The girl, according to her father, was married to Turner's son, a cripple, and to whom the Lewis family objected because of his physical condition.

DR. VAN WINKLE
RESIGNS FROM HIS PASTORATE

Dr. H. A. Van Winkle, who for the past six years has been pastor of the First Christian Church and has actively labored during all that time in the church life of Oakland, has tendered his resignation to the trustees of this church and it is to be effective on October 1. A little less than six years ago Dr. Van Winkle accepted the pastorate of the First Christian Church of Oakland. Viewed from every practical standpoint, his pastorate has been decidedly successful. Because of his success in evangelistic preaching and his love for the church, he has resigned his pastorate to do evangelistic and lecture work for about two years before again engaging in pastoral work. He began his work as pastor of the First Christian Church of Oakland and the First Christian Church of the Pacific Coast to preach a sermon by radio, which was broadcasted from the Hotel Oakland. It is estimated that 30,000 persons heard the sermon, and letters were received from sailors at sea who heard the sermon and he performed about three hundred marriages during his pastorate. "The hard work connected with this six years pastorate," said Dr. Van Winkle, "has been made joyful through the whole-hearted co-operation of the church. The credit for the many things that have been accomplished belongs in a large measure to the church, which has at all times been ready to undertake the things that at the time seemed impossible of accomplishment. At the present time the church is very much in need of a new building, and hopes to be able to construct a plant within the next two or three years that will meet the needs of the growing membership. The work has advanced along all lines, not only in the way of new members, but in every department, one of the outstanding features being the 'Power of Living Gospel' series, which is being held at present each Sunday morning in the Franklin Theater."

PASTOR TO HAVE
MOVIE ACTORS
OCCUPY PULPIT

A regular honest-to-goodness fighting parson is the Rev. Christian R. Reiser, who presides over the Chelsea Methodist Episcopal Church, one of the latest in New York City. He has assumed his brother pastors by inviting movie picture producers and actors to speak from his pulpit. "Yes, I have been criticized for this," says Dr. Reiser, "but I want the people to get the highest touch of the people who furnish their entertainment. I have no patience with the class of people who are decrying and denouncing people connected with motion pictures. The church can work in harmony with the picture and should use them to greater advantage. I number many motion picture people among my admirers. D. W. Griffith, and I am proud to say that Richard Barthelmess is one of my dearest friends. It is so easy to say thoughtless things about people in the motion picture field. I have known people from Europe in the fall I intend, as often as I can, to have motion picture actors speak from my pulpit. The first one will be Barthelmess."

MEMBERS WILL ATTEND LARGE REVIVAL MEET
The First Church of the Nazarenes will attend the Aimee Semple McPherson revival meeting in a body tomorrow afternoon and evening under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. L. A. Reed. A church service will be held in the morning when Rev. Reed will speak on "Power," which is to embrace the material of last Sunday's sermon. The service which was scheduled for last Sunday morning on "The Power of the Holy Spirit," was not delivered as planned. The service of the church service was taken up by a praise and testimony service. A special service will be held on Thursday night, to which everyone has been extended an invitation regardless of denomination.

J. STITT WILSON WILL PREACH AT TRINITY CHURCH
J. Stitt Wilson will occupy the pulpit of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church of Berkeley at both morning and evening services tomorrow. Dr. E. Bennett is the pastor of the church. Last Sunday a crowded house at both services heard Wilson's sermon on the economic and industrial problems of today. He is to speak tomorrow by special request of the social and religious problems of our time from the standpoint of the life and teachings of Jesus.

Revolutionary Book Is Subject

The subject of the sermon at the First Unitarian Church tomorrow morning by Rev. Clarence Reed, the pastor, will be the new book by Lothrop Stoddard, "The Revolt Against Civilization." This book, according to Rev. Reed, is even more startling in its conclusions than his much discussed volume on "The Rising Tide of Color," of which President Harding said in his famous speech at Birmingham, Alabama, on October 26, 1921: "Whoever will take the time to read and ponder Mr. Lothrop Stoddard's book on 'The Rising Tide of Color' will realize that our race problem here in the United States is only a phase of a race issue that the whole world confronts." According to Stoddard throughout the world today, and the walls of civilization that we imagined were firmly established are crumbling. Even the existence of the present political, economic and social institutions is threatened. In conclusion he says that of Lord Macaulay: "If civilization is again overthrown it will not be by the barbarian without, but by the barbarian within."

U. S. RELIEF IN RUSSIA OBJECT OF CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, July 27.—Dr. Lauritz Larsen, president of the National Lutheran Council, an American organization with headquarters in New York, sailed for Paris recently on the S. S. Resolute to join Dr. J. A. Morehead, chairman of the European commission of the National Lutheran Council, and confer with him about the continuance of the relief work in Russia. The council, which is working in Russia in cooperation with the American Relief Administration, has distributed among the destitute of Europe some $2,000,000 in food and cash, and 2,500,000 pounds of clothing. It has been proposed that, owing to the improvement of conditions in the Volga valley during the past few months, the bulk of the council's extensive work be shifted to the Ukraine and the Black Sea area, where the famine still rages unabated. Dr. Larsen will continue in Europe for some time making investigation of the present status of relief and the needs of the people.

VISITING PASTOR FROM CHINA TO OCCUPY PULPIT

Rev. Frank C. Gale and his wife, Dr. Allie Gale of Nanchang, China, are visiting friends in Oakland. The Rev. Gale will deliver the sermon at both services tomorrow at the First Methodist Episcopal church. Rev. Gale is in charge of the Central International church in Nanchang, and is doing evangelistic work as well. Dr. Allie Gale, his wife, is superintendent of the Nanchang hospital. Rev. Gale was formerly assistant pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church under Dr. Elbert R. Dille, and when Dr. George W. White was appointed to the pastorate, Rev. Gale, who had been already commissioned to sail for China, remained another year at the request of Dr. White, to assist in adjusting church affairs, following the great disaster of 1906. In order that the many friends may have an opportunity to greet Rev. and Dr. Gale, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will tender a reception to them on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church parlor to which they have been invited. Dr. Gale will tell about his work among the Chinese at that time. The church quartet will sing Stevenson's "Behold the Master Passes By" and a contralto solo will be sung by Elise Santa Crane.

At this service Eileen Almstead Piggott, soprano, and Hugh J. Williams, tenor, will sing a duet, "My Friend Be Always Thy Mercy." Williams will also sing a solo, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Series Will Be On Subject of "Evolution"

A series of Sunday morning addresses on "Creative Evolution" have been announced by Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles, pastor of the First Universalist Church, which meets in the Rose Room of the Hotel Oakland. The series will start tomorrow and will continue throughout the month of August. These addresses, according to Rev. Ruggles, are to be of a practical and helpful character; they are to reveal the possibilities of greater growth in mental mastery and spiritual power which he states creative evolution unfolds. He states that they will also serve to establish a most reasonable Christian attitude to the teaching of modern science. He states that in view of the many erroneous views now prevalent regarding evolution he will give a three-minute prelude each Sunday morning to a correct view of the truth of this science. "What is the True Doctrine of Evolution?" is to be the topic of the talk tomorrow.

TENT LOCATIONS COMPLETED FOR CAMP MEETING

What promises to be one of the greatest camp meetings in the history of the California Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will be held in Oakland, August 10 to 20. One has been kept busy filling applications for ten accommodations during the past few days. More are being put up for the purpose than 200 tents for living purposes and will continue throughout the month of August. Besides the large pavilion for the different meetings, the cafeteria, grocery store, and book store, the conference will be represented. The ministers and other workers connected with the conference have been working with vigor in their anxiety to have everything in the smooth running order when the opening night arrives. The gathering will be the most important from the fact that leading ministers from the local conference, Pacific Union conference, and the World's General conference are being present. They will tell of the World's Convention in San Francisco, where delegates were present from 120 nations, and the progress of the demonstration came in reports at that convention from the darkest corners of the world. The tents that were laid for the further progress of the entire demonstration. The daily program is to be beginning at 6 o'clock in the morning. Besides Bible studies by leading clergymen, the services will be held, especially for the general public, when lectures on the signs of the times, from a prophetic standpoint, will be given. G. W. Wells of Oakland will preside over the conference sessions. The daily program will be held at 7:45 on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The masses in the morning will be at 7 and 8:30. The members of the Third Order of St. Francis will attend the exercises in a body.

PRESBYTERIANS OF COAST STUDY CHURCH METHODS

PASADENA, July 29.—Combining business and study of church methods, Presbyterians of California and Arizona convened in Pasadena Presbyterian Church, July 29, for a week's session. This is the first time these synods, or any two synods of the Presbyterian denomination have held joint sessions. California synod includes also the churches of Nevada.

The meeting opened Thursday night with a sermon by the retiring moderator, Rev. W. H. Landon, D. D., president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

The next moderator of California synod is Rev. Arthur Hicks, D. D., of Fowler, Calif., and of Arizona synod, Rev. John Butler of Tuba City, Ariz.

The meeting is planned with business sessions for two hours in the morning followed by three sessions of 45 minutes each, when nine classes are held on various phases of church methods and missions, making 27 classes during the morning hours. There are addresses at the evening sessions by prominent ministers of the denomination from the east and elsewhere. Several leaders of the classes have made the trip from Philadelphia and New York to conduct the work.

Plans are under way for the submission of a series of standards for churches of various ages, attainment of which will give these churches the honor of being "par" churches of the synod.

Phillee stated: "The purpose of all His dealings with men is that they may become like the one perfect Man, Jesus Christ. This is the necessary involvement transformation."

At the usual evening hour the Centennial church will join with the rest of the churches of the district in a union meeting to be held at the Twenty-third Avenue Baptist Church, where Assembly M. Wright will speak.

The Sunday School will meet at the usual hour Sunday morning, and prayer meeting will be held Wednesday evening.

College Students as Church Workers

The Pacific reports a number of religious activities among college students while on their vacations.

"The national Home Missionary Society along with the State Societies is sending out 140 young men and women, most of whom are college students, as summer workers. They are to organize and reorganize Sunday schools to bring young peoples' societies into more active service, to start Boy Scout and Camp Fire Girls organizations, to take groups camping, to initiate various community enterprises, and to lead prayer meetings in their own homes. If the funds would warrant five times as many could be sent. Who says that college students are not ready for vicarious calling, is barking up the wrong tree. Many of these students have decided to go into the ministry."

Increase in Religious Books.

An increase in religious books is reported by the Watchman Examiner, which states:

One publishing firm in America has announced that during the opening months of the year it has sold new volumes of religion and theology. This indicates the hold religious discussion is getting on the American public. In England the same tendency is noted. Speaking of religious books published in 1921, the London Times Literary supplement says: "Religion has recovered from its eclipse of 1920. Next to fiction, with 667 new titles, comes religion with 563 new titles."

Students Erect Building.

Students of the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark., will assist in the erection of a new building on the campus, according to the Watchman Examiner.

Seventeen students of the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, Ark., have petitioned college authorities for the privilege of working on the new administration and lecture building to be erected this summer. A feature of the commencement exercises was the breaking of ground for the new building. It will cost $15,000 and the last $2,000 was pledged at a popular meeting of the General Assembly in Des Moines, Iowa, during the summer.

This fund was turned over to the college for current expenses. The commencement address was made by Dr. Gilbert Lovell of the General Board of Education.

Honorary Degree Doctor of Divinity

The California Christian Advocate records:

The University of Southern California, at its recent commencement conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity upon the following persons: Edward James, for his services in the Christian Mission in China and who has sent many Chinese students to the University of California; Charles Inwood, who during the past fifteen years has traveled over a million miles under the Christian Convention, an interdenominational organization of the Churches of England and America, graduate of the University of Michigan.

The last annual report of the Chief of Chaplains showed a total of 135 chaplains then in service in the United States Army. Dr. Axton holds the rank of colonel; there are

My Favorite Stories by

Cause and Effect

In a certain company of the 77th Division, which largely was made up of draft troops from New York City, was an East Side boy of Irish antecedents with a pretty wit of his own. In front of Chateau Thierry a machine gun bullet passed through one of his knee joints. When he was able to get about on crutches, a surgeon at the base hospital said to him one day:

"Hogan, how far can you walk on that leg now?" "Well, sir," said Hogan, "I'm doin' pretty well. I can hobble up to the end of the ward and read the prescriptions on the medicine bottles and figure out the causes. Then I hobble to the cemetery out here and read the epitaphs and look at the effects."

Uncle Wiggily Stories

by HOWARD R. GARDNER

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE TINGLE WEED.

ONCE upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the house where Neddie Stubtail, the boy bear, lived, the bunny gentleman saw Mrs. Stubtail, the lady bear, standing in the doorway of her cave house. "Good morning, Mrs. Stubtail!" called Uncle Wiggily, with a low and polite bow of his tall silk hat. "How are you this morning? How is Mr. Stubtail, and how are my two little bear friends, Neddie and Beekie?"

"Well," remarked Mrs. Stubtail, as she rolled her paws in her apron, for she had been washing the dishes and her paws were still wet, "well, everyone is all right except Neddie."

"What's the matter with him?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "He has the toothache," answered Mrs. Stubtail. "I just now left my dishes half washed to come to the door to look out and see if Dr. Possum might be coming. We had to send for him because Neddie had so much pain from his tooth that he cried nearly all night."

"That's too bad," spoke Uncle Wiggily, following Mrs. Stubtail into the cave house, for there was, as yet, no sign of Dr. Possum. "I'm very sorry," went on the rabbit gentleman, for well he knew that a big chap like Neddie the bear had more pain with the toothache than a little chap like an ant boy.

Besides ant boys haven't any teeth, though some of them have pincers and strong jaws for biting. "Oh, dear!" howled Neddie, as Uncle Wiggily and Mrs. Stubtail entered the room. "Can somebody do something to stop my toothache? Oh, dear, how it hurts!"

"I've done everything I can think of to stop his pain, but the ache is still there," sighed Mrs. Stubtail. "I'll telephone again for Dr. Possum, but he is so busy he may be a long while getting here."

"Oh, what a pain!" howled Neddie, his paw over his jaw. "Something must be done," declared Uncle Wiggily. "I remember when I was a young rabbit I used to chew the leaves and root of the tingle weed to stop my toothache. I'll go out and get some tingle weed for you, Neddie."

"Does it hurt?" asked the boy bear. "Not at all!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Tingle weed is what I call the yarrow plant. It makes your tongue and the gums around your teeth tingle and then feel numb, as when you feel goes to sleep. Then the pain stops. I'll get you some tingle weed or yarrow plant."

Out into the field hopped Uncle Wiggily and soon he found the tingle weed growing. It had fine green leaves, that looked like fringe, and the flowers were brownish yellow and white in color. The yarrow, also called Old Man's Pepper, Soldier's Woundwort and Nosebleed Plant, is one of our oldest weeds. When you grow up and read about Achilles, and the siege of Troy,

"Oh, my teeth are going to sleep!"

you will learn that the yarrow is dedicated to this mighty soldier, who is said to have used the leaves and roots of the plant to heal the wounds of his soldiers.

However that may be, Uncle Wiggily soon found some of the yarrow growing in the field, just as you may find it if you have sharp eyes.

"I must try this on myself, to see if it is the right thing," thought the bunny uncle, as he pulled up one of the plants. Washing the dirt from the roots in a nearby spring of water, Uncle Wiggily chewed some of the fibers, letting them rest on his tongue and gums. In a short time his tongue tingled and then began to feel numb—almost as though he had no tongue at all, just as it seems you have no foot when it falls "asleep," as you call it.

"This is the right thing!" cried the bunny. "This will stop Neddie's toothache!" and he pulled many more roots of the tingle plant or yarrow weed.

"Oh, ho! But have you anything to stop me from nibbling your ears?" suddenly cried a most unpleasant voice, close beside Uncle Wiggily, and, turning, he saw the Skilley Scallery Alligator.

"Are you going to nibble my ears?" asked the rabbit. "I am!" grumbled the Gator. "Well, first nibble some of this!" cried brave Uncle Wiggily, and he thrust a paw full of yarrow root into the open mouth of the Skilley Scallery chap, who before he knew what he was doing, chewed on it.

"Suddenly the mouth and tongue of the Alligator began to tingle and feel numb."

"Oh, my teeth are going to sleep. My tongue is going to sleep! I can't taste anything!" howled the bad creature.

"Well, then, you can't taste my ears!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And the Gator was so frightened that he ran away to cool his tingling tongue in the brook. So he didn't get the bunny after all, and Uncle Wiggily hurried home with the yarrow roots.

They stopped Neddie's toothache until Dr. Possum came, and the next day the boy had his aching tooth pulled, so it never hurt him any more.

"And when I get a pain I'll use yarrow root," said Beekie, as she passed Uncle Wiggily the cabbage pie at supper that evening.

So this teaches us that the rain always stops some time.

ATTRACTIVE RECIPES

Spiced Scallops.

Dip a pint of small, dry scallops in egg, roll them in very fine crumbs, then dust with pepper and salt. Slip the scallops onto fine steel skewers that have been wiped with a hot, dry cloth, then well buttered. Lay the spindles on a baking-dish or hang them on a big skewer and broil, basting often with butter and a few drops of lemon juice. Lay each spindle on a slice of dry toast and garnish it with a spray of parsley. The spindles make an attractive fish course or luncheon dish.

Oatmeal Blanc Mange.

Bring one quart of milk to the boiling point, add a teaspoonful of salt, and stir in a cupful of oatmeal. Boil for three-quarters of an hour, then remove from the stove. Beat in three fresh eggs, a half-cupful of sugar and a tablespoonful of butter. Beat well, then pour into a mould wet with cold water, and set to cool. When cold, slice and serve with whipped cream and sugar or hot fudge sauce.

THREE MINUTE TALES

by Old Schuster

GRIGGS AND THE HANDSOME HERO

THE motor-truck and the state highway, for all their modernity, have brought back something of the romance of the barnstorming days of the theater. In the western states, where fortune is spent for convenience asphalt, Romeo and Juliet ride on a gasoline bus loaded with the scenery which Romeo helps unload. The Odd Fellows hall, in cities not used to road companies, is made into a show house. Ticket office exchanges, pasteboards for money, and once again the stock companies bring fuss and confusion into receptive communities.

Hayman's troupe of celebrated comedians traveled with a wealth of advance notices and a compact accompaniment. All save the two stars and Hayman rode on the truck with the trunks and scenery, while the more favored one preceded in what, regardless of the model, they always termed a "car." Through winds and rain the artists pushed from one stop to another, made the acquaintance of good hotels and bad, paying houses and losing ones, and were actors, scene shifters and baggage handlers in turn.

Interest in the Hayman troupe was centered on the rivalry of Denis Thorpe, the handsome leading man, and Ed Griggs, character actor, for the affections of Lillian Myers, the company favorite.

"If it wasn't so funny I could weep," lamented Morrison, the jovial heavy, after a performance of "The Angel of Hell's Valley." "When Ed comes in to kidnap the fair and terrified Lillian, he sets himself like a quarterback receiving a punt and she squeals and jumps right into his arms. As a separate abduction it is the best-timed and most agreeable I ever saw. Gosh, but we are rotten!"

"And Thorpe," said the other, "do you notice how sure he is that looks are the major part of acting? Why, that bird does nothing but walk on nobly at the psychological moment and how to the applause. I wonder which one she likes best."

THE actors, as in all shows, took their pleasure in criticizing each other but, as a unit, they were loyal in the belief that they conferred an artistic and cultural benefit on each community visited. They took turns, even carrying Thorpe's baggage, a task which he said was beneath a star and, while they swore and chafed, put all of their effort in making the season last as long as possible.

When Lillian took to riding in the car with the stars it became apparent that Thorpe's chances were in the ascendant and that Griggs was relegated, definitely, to second place. She was pleasant to both, but the hero's smirk of satisfaction developed as the days passed.

One day Thorpe, hiding anger with a fine air, quit the company without notice and, carrying his baggage for the first time, boarded a train for the large city. He gave it out he had been booked for a "real show." Lillian, who did not see him off, answered all questions with a strange smile and a shrug of the shoulders.

The ladies changed about in the days that followed until a new man came and there was speculation and profanity concerning the desertion of the star. "It's a dirty trick on Hayman, that's what it is," was the general verdict, "but it sure played into the hands of Ed Griggs."

THE women never let up trying to get out of the girl the secret of Thorpe's defection, but she was not to be sounded.

"Ed," she said, suddenly, to Griggs one day when the two stood looking at a slope made strangely medieval by scattered and gnarled live oaks, "I have saved a big end of my salary, and so have you. Let's be sensible. Suppose we do like Thorpe, slip away at the first chance, get married, and try something better."

Startled at his first proposal, Ed could only gasp. With recovery came the realization of what it meant to the company.

"Why, Lillian," he answered, almost supplicating, "you wouldn't ditch the bunch? No, I gotta stick by Hayman—and so have you." The reproach and disappointment in his voice had no chastening effect on the girl, who smiled happily.

"Griggs or Thorpe," she said, "the handsome hero or the plain-looking man? That is what bothered me for a long time and that is why I made the same pro-

SHIPPING BOARD AUCTION AUG. 8

Have you a little locomotive in your home?

Have you neglected to install a derrick in your parlor?

Have you heretofore foregone the convenience of a clam shell bucket on your pantry shelf?

Have you never considered how it would enhance your standing in the community to have a gyroscopic compass in your bathtub or a telephone pole in your sink?

If you desire any of these modern conveniences you will be interested in this announcement:

The last and largest of the series of three United States shipping board auctions on the Pacific coast begins promptly at 10 a. m. Tuesday, August 8, at Alameda. The sale will be conducted by Charles S. Gerth.

In the announcement of the auction, made today by the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation, it is stated that the sale promises to be one of the liveliest of its kind held on the Pacific coast owing to the wide variety of objects that will fall under the hammer.

A complete list can be obtained by writing to the shipping board representative at Alameda. There are a few of the more valuable things to be disposed of: Cranes, derricks, switching locomotive, standard water tube boilers, a considerable quantity of plumbing fixtures, valves and pipe fittings, machine tools, metal and wood-working machines, augurs, drills, hammers, shovels, reciprocating high speed engine driven blower sets, pumps, tanks, furniture, textiles, galley equipment, wire Manila rope, hardware, wood preservatives, railroad ties, electrical materials, mechanical telegraphs, telephone poles, searchlights, cargo lights, nautical instruments and clamshell buckets.

posals to him. It was a little scheme," and she faltered, "to test you out."

Ed, joyous and but half-believing, had one more question: "But, you tried him first?"

"I had to be fair," the girl confessed, "and, you see, dear, I knew you would not fail."

BIRTH OF DAUGHTER.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Henes are being felicitated upon the birth of a daughter in their home last Tuesday. Mrs. Henes was Miss Evelyn Ellis. The first-born in the household was a boy.

Miss Lore Pratt is one of the debutante set who has been enjoying the season at Lake Tahoe. Next year Miss Pratt will be graduated from the University of California. After a stay with her mother, Mrs. William Kelly, in Piedmont, Miss Pratt will leave for Coronado to spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. Francis Ballantyne Connell, wife of Lieutenant Connell, U. S. N., who is stationed in the south.

CARDS TELL OF BETROTHAL.

Betrothal cards were received this morning announcing the engagement of Miss Blanche Kummer and Dr. William Wilmerding Mohr, physician of Minneapolis. The wedding is planned for some time in the fall.

Miss Kummer comes from a representative family in Piedmont and is the daughter of the late Dr. Alfred Kummer and Mrs. Kummer. She was graduated from Stanford University and the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. Miss Kummer is now head of the musical department of Technical High school. Recently with her sister, Miss Grace Kummer, she returned from an extended trip to Australia and the Orient, having a year's leave of absence.

Dr. Mohr received his degree from the University of Minnesota and is a Phi Sigma Rho fraternity man. He has a large practice in the Eastern city.

Miss Kummer will be the guest of honor at a tea to be given Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Harold Broderick at her home in Flamingo avenue, the first of a series of parties for the bride-to-be.

In honor of Miss Elizabeth Alford, an elaborate luncheon will be given the afternoon of August 16 by Miss Flora Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Edwards of this city. Miss Alford will have returned from Los Angeles by that time, where she is visiting her fiancée's family. Places will be set for two score guests.

Wave at Beauty Shop

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 29.—Yes; it is true!

Although she witnessed the application of the curling iron and many twitters were plainly heard, he apparently was not embarrassed.

Oil, Sugar Concerns Oppose Unmerger

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—The Associated Oil Company and the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation have gone on record as being opposed to the unmerger of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroads, according to letters received today by Wallace M. Alexander, chairman of the state-wide committee against dismemberment.

The executive committee of the Associated Oil Company declared that the company is absolutely opposed to the separation of the two railroads because "the two lines having been built as one system it will be impossible to reach hundreds of stations from any other station without the use of joint

A Guide to What's Good to Get

SOMEONE has said that if bread and butter were new inventions they would have to be advertised before people would accept them as standard articles of food.

Even in this progressive age, folks are somewhat wary of leaving the beaten path. They stick pretty close to the things they know, when those things come up to their expectations.

That is why alert merchants and manufacturers strive to tell about their products and their services in the advertising columns of the daily paper. They want you to know what they offer, in the belief that when you do know, you will be interested, and perhaps inspired, with some of their own enthusiasm.

Thrifty men and women find that it pays to read the advertisements. It enables them to rest assured that they are not overlooking anything. It lets them know where to locate some desired product or service; where to go for "this" or how to get "that" to best advantage. Without its direction they would overlook much and consequently lose much. They would live in ignorance of many things that might add materially to their wealth, health and happiness.

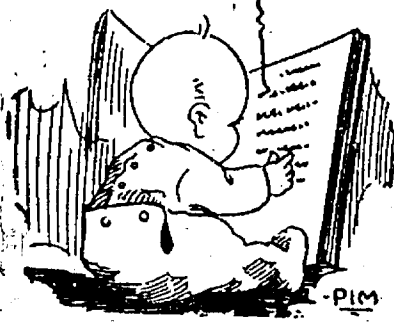

Make advertising your guide to what's good to get.

Read It—reflect on it—it pays!

FLAMES NEAR STOCKTON RUIN FIELDS OF GRAIN

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.
STOCKTON, July 29.—Fire which has been raging for two days in grainfields in the Eugene district, at one time covering the entire countryside, and which has already caused losses aggregating thousands of dollars, is today still unchecked.

Hundreds of volunteers, who have gone to the scene from towns within a wide radius are battling today against the flames.

The fire is believed to have been caused by sparks from auto trucks which were hauling grain from the fields.

Present losses include 1700 sacks of stacked grain, a large acreage of standing grain and several thousand acres of pasture and stubble.
Among those whose ranches have been principally damaged by the fire are Matthew Drails, John Mattesch, Pat Ford, J. B. Ford and W. C. Koehler.

Definite Figures On Bay Bridge

CENTREVILLE, July 29.—The Alameda County Bridge-the-Bay Association met here last night to discuss the progress that has been made. The affiliated Chambers of Commerce and Labor Townships met with the association.

The first definite approximate cost of constructing a bridge at an available point has been sent by W.
Smith, secretary of the association, for a bridge to be built across the bay at a point 400 feet north of the Southern Pacific railroad bridge at Dumbarton point. $1,586,000. It divided for a 30-foot bridge, with embankments; for a bridge at a location 200 feet south of the bridge, $1,300,000 more, on account of the greater distance to be spanned.

These figures are from John Lyte Harrington, engineer for a private engineering firm.

None of the bidders thus far have designated a point where they prefer to build the bridge, but all are awaiting the report of the engineer which will be completed shortly. No matter where the location, all bridge boosters have decided to unite on the bridge, according to sentiment expressed at several meetings.

If you see it in THE TRIBUNE tell
them so.

High Blood Pressure

Forty-five is often called the dangerous age. It has been well-known. United States government vital statistics show an increased mortality rate among men and women between the ages of 45 and 55. They also show that the number of high blood pressure cases among people who have passed the age of 45.

Yet the danger is not so much in high blood pressure as it is in the person's indifference to his physical welfare. A blood pressure 10 points higher than it should be reduces the person's chances of living by 35 per cent. Yet the average man or woman will listen to such facts, think them over, and then continue to drift along until the crash comes.

Out of 500,000 deaths last year, 250,000 could have been prevented
if the patient had acted in time.
Here are the symptoms which they persistently ignore:

Cold hands and feet. Slight momentary dizziness. Sleep unrefresh-
ing. Sleep disturbed by dreams.
Feeling of fullness in the head.
Gastric disturbances after meals.
Constipation. Weakness and low ered vitality. Nervousness. Headaches.

ficult nor expensive. Mail the

Playground Directors Thank Tribune for Sierra Camp Aid

FORMAL resolutions expressive of appreciation of the efforts of the TRIBUNE in raising funds to send needy children to the Mountain Camp for a brief summer vacation were passed last night by the board of playground directors.

The resolutions followed a campaign conducted through the columns of the TRIBUNE, in which attention was called to the plight of countless unfortunate city children who would be immeasurably benefited by two weeks in the high Sierras.

It was estimated that for $12.55
the Goodfellows of Oakland and environs could send a child under the age of 12 to the Mountain Camp for two weeks. The cost of sending a child more than 12 years of age was $24.25.

Immediately after THE TRIB-UNE made the initial donation to start the ball rolling the contributions from the warm-hearted East-bay folk began to come into the Mountain Camp Department. The result was that between 75 and 100 children tasted the joys of mountain life and returned to their homes here imbued with new strength and a more cheerful outlook on life.

The resolutions passed by the Board of Playground Directors, signed by President Harold Aus-tine and Directors Moser, Maher, Robinson and Johnson, read as follows:

"Inasmuch as the OAKLAND TRIBUNE has, through its columns, been able to raise sufficient funds to send from 75 to 100 worthy children to the Mountain Camp, be it therefore

"Resolved, that on behalf of these children the Board of Playground Directors express its sincere thanks to THE TRIBUNE for this most excellent piece of community service."

THUG BINDS AND ATTACKS YOUNG GIRL

Victim of Assault Is Found in Basement of Her Home;
Police Records Show She Told of Kidnaping in 1920

The police today are investigating a story related by a 14-year-old girl who claims that she was attacked last night in her home on Fifth street by an unidentified man.

The mother of the girl telephoned to the police early last night that her daughter was missing. She told them she thought the girl had been kidnaped. Police Inspectors Alex Trotter and Joe Robinson were detailed to investigate the case.

While they were searching in the basement of the house they heard her cry for help. They found her sitting in the corner with her hands and feet bound and a blanket tied over her head.

She told the officers that she was sitting on the front porch with her two little sisters when she thought she heard some one in the kitchen.
She went into the house and found a strange man in her bedroom. She says he grabbed her, tore her waist, bound her hands and feet and carried her to the basement.

The girl was taken to the Emergency hospital and later to the detention home, where she is being held pending a further investigation.

According to police records the girl on August 19, 1920, reported that she had been the victim of an attempted kidnaping, participated in by two unidentified men.
She said she was in bed when two men entered her bedroom, gagged her and carried her to an automobile stationed at the curb in front of her house. She said she had broken from the men's grasp and run into the house.

They were about to seize her again, according to her story, when the gag became loose and she swam for aid, summoning Samuel and Joseph Goldberg, who frightened away her alleged assailants.

Senator Johnson Opens His Campaign in South

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Senator Hiram Johnson fired the first oratorical gun in his "offensive" for re-election to the United States Senate here last night, and the boom resounded through the Philharmonic Auditorium, packed to overflowing with enthusiastic supporters.

The capacious auditorium was filled from pit to dome with friends of Johnson, and it was estimated that in the neighborhood of 500 were unable to gain admission to hear the start of Senator Johnson's campaign for re-election on the Republican ticket against C. C.
Moore.

Senator Johnson flayed his opponents on the ground that they are seeking to kill the direct primary, and charged that they are attempting to throw California politics back to the convention system. He dealt with the political history of the state in 1916, and spoke in scathing terms of the alleged railroad domination of the state.

After setting forth his position and the attitude of his opposi-tents, Senator Johnson proceeded to give an account of his stewardship at Washington during the past four years, explaining succinctly his votes on various measures, and his reasons for so voting. He then took up the matter of Japanese exclusion in this state.

MUST GUARD LANDS.
"We seek to protect ourself just as they in their country protect themselves," said Senator Johnson in regard to the Japanese. "It is necessary that we guard our agricultural lands and that we prevent Japanese immigration that California may remain ours and be passed on to our posterity."

The headlines of Senator Johnson's first speech follow:
Under the direct primary,
which fortunately prevails in California, the members of the various political parties are called upon again to select the party candidates for United States senator. It is almost a decade since you have witnessed a similar contest, and in that time the increasing population has been so marvelous that many of you who are here tonight have perhaps little knowledge of preceding political campaigns.

POLITICAL VICISSITUDES.
It is not only appropriate, therefore, but important, that that part of the citizenship here, should understand and know something of the political vicissitudes of California.

I speak but what is California history when I relate that under our first direct primary, in 1910, a political revolution occurred here, which, in its far-reaching results and its beneficial consequences, has no rival: nor equal in the stories of the commonwealth of the nation.

Under the direct primary, the State, which for nearly forty years had been administered as a mere part of a great railroad corporation, was suddenly transmuted into a people's government.

The entire philosophy of government changed and laws were created to handle the needs and wishes of the people. The session of the legislature in 1911 and 1913, particularly, which dealt with the husbanding of the resources of the State, and its first policy of eliminating the lax and unfaithful administration of public affairs.

VINDICTIVE OPPOSITION.
Such work could not be done but in the face of manifold difficulties and against bitter and vindictive opposition.

The wounds of that five-year struggle have never healed, and probably never will. Livid scars of the exchanges between the fighters for and the exploiters of humanity will continue with the lives of the antagonists. In no place in California was the contest more bitter, nor, after our success, the vanquished more vindictive than in the city of Los Angeles.

Every legislative act for decency, every ameliorating measure for women and for children, every endeavor to obtain justice for just common folks, every

ALAMEDA DIES IN CELL IN BERKELEY

George Nichols, Taken to the Police Station After Fall;
Accused of Drunkenness,
Expires in Police Station

BERKELEY, July 29.—George
Nichols, 45 years old, 1427 St.
Charles street, Alameda, was found dead in a cell at Berkeley police station at 6:30 o'clock this morning by Officer L. D. Browning.

Nichols was taken to the emergency hospital yesterday by the police assisted by Thomas M. Burke, 522 Sixth street, Oakland, a friend of Nichols, after he had fallen to the sidewalk at Grove and Derby streets. At the hospital it was found that he was suffering from intoxication.

After consultation with the Ala-ameda police Nichols was booked on a charge of drunkenness. Nichols is said to have a wife and three children in Alameda, who are reportedly destitute. An autopsy to determine the cause of death will be performed under the direction of Deputy coroner Frank Berg.

Lads Killed Father Who Abused Them

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., July 28.—
Frank and Woll Brown, aged 14 and 15 years, are in jail here charged with having killed their father, Elias Brown, as he was sleeping in his cabin near Bradshaw. The lads told a deputy sheriff that the parent abused them and when he fell asleep they obtained a shotgun and killed him.

If you see it in THE TRIBUNE tell
them so.

contentment and all of the results that were claimed for it. It is done, and no amount of casuistry can revive it now.

Out of our international relations, however, there is one big problem which cannot be brushed aside—the menace of an ambitious nation of another race, teeming with its rapidly increasing population, casting their envious eyes upon our California shores.

We, here, should understand the situation, and realize the peril. Our Eastern brethren, less informed, never in touch, do not comprehend what the Japanese influx means to our Western coast.

It is not in a spirit of animosity or prejudice that we have taken our stand. It is because first hand, under our very eyes, we know that with the onrush of this race, we can not in many directions compete and that their additional numbers and increasing agricultural holdings mean the yielding of what is ours to them. We seek to protect ourselves just as they in their country protect themselves. It is necessary that we guard our agricultural lands, and that we prevent the influx of the Japanese that California may remain ours,
and be passed on to our posterity.

The national administration has pursued its definite policy of keeping out of the European entanglement. The President steadfastly sets his face against the league of nations and the administration declines even to consider becoming a member of this international body.

JACK McAULIFFE SAYS BENNY LEONARD IS SLIPPING

BENNY VIERRA LOSES "JUNIOR LIGHTWEIGHT" TITLE TO YOUNG BROWN IN LOS ANGELES

Champion Has Trouble With Weight Limit

Tendler Looms Up as Only Formidable Opponent of Leonard.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Benny Leonard is still the lightweight champion, but he is slipping back to the "outpointing" type of titleholder, in the opinion of many of the experts who saw him shade Lew Tendler.

"Leonard boxes just as well as he ever did. He gets around just as gracefully and as fast. He punches accurately, but he is losing his touch because he has to try too much to make the weight. He is not strong enough at 135 pounds to knock out a rugged fighter of the Tendler type.

"Jack Britton hasn't a punch left, but he gets by on his brains and a skilled pair of boxing hands. Leonard can do the same thing until he meets an opponent who starts to rattle by a line of demoralizing chatter.

"Tendler is the only outstanding contender in the light weight division and Leonard will have to fight him again if he wants to earn more big money."

NEW YORK, July 29.—Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Los Angeles, national women's champion in 1904, will meet Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, present national title holder, today in the final round of the New York state women's singles championship on the courts of the Green Meadow club.

Mrs. Bundy defeated Miss Marie Wagner of New York yesterday in the semi-final, 6-2, 6-3, while Mrs. Mallory eliminated Miss Leslie Bancroft of Boston, 8-6, 6-1.

Both finalists flashed brilliant tennis. Mrs. Bundy easily outplayed her metropolitan rival, while Mrs. Mallory, though extended in the first set, always had command of the situation.

GOLF

By W. D. MCNICOLL.

At Sequoyah yesterday only fourteen players participated in the invitational sweepstakes tournament, while twelve others present preferred to play around in a free and easy manner. Competition golf seems to distress many players and spoil their full enjoyment of the game, while others prefer to play in a contest where something is at stake, with every shot figured out and recorded. Among the visitors were representatives from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Diablo, Mrs. Gilman from the Presidio Country Club won first prize in the medal sweepstakes event when she rounded the course in the very low score of 102-22-80. Mrs. Gilmore, who is a regular visitor at Sequoyah, as few visitors at first trial manage to get so near to the century mark. Mrs. Cive Waterman, with 103-20-33, and Mrs. H. E. Hare, with 112-20-35, tied for second place. Mrs. Waterman had an excellent match play card which would have given her a good score against par or bogey, but she was out of luck in the medal event. Mrs. Milton Bernard did not compete in the sweepstakes event. She started out over the old first nine holes, and reached the turn in the low score of 39. A 44 in would have tied her own record score, but the San Francisco champion failed to duplicate her first 9 form and took 46, which gave her 85-22-32.

Miss Vera Bernhart played her first game at Sequoyah yesterday since her return from Honolulu, where she played golf nearly every day during the last two months, which is situated back on the Pal Road, consists of 18 holes of average distance, with excellent turf greens and grass fairways.

Several members of the Encinal Golf and Country Club visited the site of their future "home" yesterday, when they enjoyed surf bathing on the white sand beach. The members of the club are planning to have immediate erection of bath houses on the club property.

Jack Mayo, who will superintend the construction of the Encinal Club's golf links under the supervision of Golf Architect William Watson, announces that he and Watson have completed the detailed plans and specifications for the entire 18 holes and practice grounds. Their recent tests at Encinal have convinced them that German bent grass will be most successful on the greens. The seed which was produced this grass was developed at the department of agriculture in Washington City previous to the holding of the 1921 open championship at the Columbia Country Club. Their famous ninth green was grown entirely of German bent and was played over during the tournament. Enthusiastic comment was made by the golf experts over the perfect even carpet resulting from the use of this grass, although it was being used practically as an experiment.

The Encinal Club's membership is rapidly nearing the 200 mark. Some of the most recent joiners are: Mrs. H. A. Prohl, Anell L. King, Fritz Van Sicken, Victor H. Wilson, H. M. Lawrence, C. V. Jensen, J. F. Soule, C. Harry White, Captain H. S. Bond, H. S. Collins, Mrs. James Dunn, George C. Green, Charles M. Culver, F. J. Bruzzone, E. C. Garrett, Edward M. Shaw, Dr. O. P. Reynolds, F. A. Boushner, T. M. Eberhart, F. E. Helms, H. E. Martin, J. Peck, George H. Noble, Arthur P. Pollard, J. Sherman McDowell, A. G. Rhodes, Walter K. Reed, Jensen Hall, Stacey S. Marshall, F. M. Theobald, Willie C. Garretson, Smith Anderson, Roger Colt, W. S. Faulkner, William G. Davis, R. H. Swayne, Joseph Thompson, Al G. Burns, William Thompson, D. H. Chaplin, R. H. Chaplin, D. K. Davis.

Young Brown Gets Decision Over Vierra

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Young Brown of Los Angeles defeated Benny Vierra of Oakland in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium last night and thereby won what was announced from the ring as the "Pacific Coast junior lightweight championship." The first round was Vierra's, but Brown led all the rest of the way in a slashing bout. "Dandy" Dick Griffin, batman-wind, had too many lefts for Ad Rubidoux and won the semi-windup by a wide margin.

James S. Bradley of Fresno caught a 4 1/2-lb. bass in Bass Lake, Modesto county, Calif., last week, according to the Southern Pacific's weekly fishing report from its agents. Other big catches reported from Bass Lake were a 3 1/2-lb. and a 4-lb. bass by S. B. McDevon of Long Beach and a 4-lb. bass by Mrs. Geo. C. Ardelot of Sanger. A summary of the report follows:

Dumsmuir—Fly casting continues good. Many fine catches reported in all nearby streams. Weather warm. Slison—Good catches reported. Gray huckle fly is favorite bait in rivers now. Limit of 25 fish reported in head waters of the Sacramento and McCloud rivers. Butte creek continues good. Best fishing about 10 miles west of Bray. Bass fishing good in Oregon Lake. Klamath Falls—Trotting good at mouth of Recreation creek and upper Klamath Lake. Fly casting good on Williamson river. Minnows best bait for Klamath river. Cisco—Good fishing reported from the Arroyo, near Yuba City. Yuba Lake Loch Leven, Lake Fordyce, Lake Sterling, Campbell lake and Lake Tule. Truckee River and tributaries low and clear. Fly fishing getting best results. Weather warm. Boca—Truckee river and tributaries low and especially suited for fly fishing. Good results reported. Weather warm. Lake Tahoe—Largest catches of the season have been made during the past week. Line fishing for native trout fine. Yosemite—Water in all streams low and good for fly casting. Fine catches being made in high Sierra country, especially around Tuolumne lake. Reports from Long Bear trout was taken last week in Tanaya lake. Nice golden trout being caught in Babcock lake. Southern California—Tuna fishing in Catalina waters reported better than in years. Nearly 100 fish have been caught, kind of date. Surf and pier fishing good at all points. Trout fishing good in Owens lake.

The following reports were compiled by the Western Pacific:

Alameda—Fishing has not been so good. Kettle—All streams good in this vicinity. Flies and helganites being used. Spring Garden—Weather and fishing conditions good. All streams are down now. Beldef—Several fine catches reported, including limits. Water and weather conditions favorable for continued good fishing. Paxton—Fishing conditions have improved greatly the past week in streams. A limit catches have been made at Big Meadows Dam and near Seneca, of large fish, which are eager for almost any kind of flies. Plenty of black bass and catfish in Round Valley lake and in streams near Crescent Mills. Blaisdell—Weather conditions ideal. All streams down to normal and clear, which makes excellent fishing. They are taking all popular flies, such as Royal Coachman, etc. Some fishermen are still getting them with salmon eggs and helganites, also grasshoppers. Limit catches reported from Jamison, Upper Grey Eagle and Frazer creeks. Reports from Long Bear, Salmon and Gold lakes bear out the statement that fishing is best it has been in years in this particular region.

WILLS AND TUT SIGN

Harry Wills, challenger of Jack Dempsey and "Tut" Jackson, Ohio heavyweight, definitely signed articles today to fight 15 rounds in the Brooklyn ball park on the night of August 29.

GOLF FACTS worth knowing

By INNIS BROWN

Q. In a recent tournament at our club, two players in the qualifying round, through oversight of the referee, played a hole from the back tee, which is about fifteen yards back of the front tee on which the markers were at the time. Did they incur any penalty?

A. They disqualified themselves, provided they did not discover the error and play from the proper tee, counting the previous stroke.

Q. Does the rule prohibiting the bending or breaking of anything fixed or growing before striking at the ball apply where a player at a safe distance takes a practice swing in high grass?

A. No. There is nothing to prevent a player from taking a practice swing in high grass, if he be a club length or more away from the ball. This doesn't apply, of course, if such grass be within the confines of a hazard.

Q. What is the rule covering the following case: A player drives from the tee and his ball lands near a boundary line. Being in something of a hurry to complete the round, he promptly drives another ball, and goes on and plays the hole out with the second ball. Later his caddy tells him the first ball did not go out of bounds.

A. The player loses the hole in match play, and disqualifies himself in medal play. If he made a mistake in assuming that the first ball was out of bounds.

Q. In a single match, if one player, after taking several strokes without making any material progress in reaching the green, picks up his ball and gives up the hole, while the other insists on playing the hole out, can a match back of their treat this player as a single player and insist that he get out of their way?

A. No. However, if the opponent has conceded the hole, the player, ought in fairness go on to the next tee, and let pavers following him play up.

Q. In looking for a ball in high grass, if a player accidentally steps on it and partially buries it, is he permitted to replace it, and is there any penalty?

A. No. However, if the opponent has conceded the hole, the player, ought in fairness go on to the next tee, and let pavers following him play up.

A. In looking for a ball in high grass, if a player accidentally steps on it and partially buries it, is he permitted to replace it, and is there any penalty?

My Marriage Problems

Chickie Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

THE RETURN MADGE MADE TO DICKY'S COMMAND.

I have heard deeply religious old people talk about the perversity of the human heart, but I never realized what it meant so vividly as I did when Dicky told me that he "did not choose I should give Bess Dean's clothes the slightest encouragement" from mine.

I agreed with his viewpoint exactly. For I had seen and disappeared the girl's attempt to shock Mrs. Cosgrove, and also had recognized that the omission of her skirt and her appearance in the knickerbocker suit for the fishing trip, where there was no climbing or wading to be done, was an unnecessary thing at Mrs. Cosgrove's prejudices. And although I had planned to wear my own skirt, nevertheless, at Dicky's strictures and objection I felt a sudden desire to defy him, to range myself upon Bess Dean's side, and dress in similar fashion.

"You needn't be so Grand Turkish about it," I said pettishly, and the next second was ashamed of my outburst.

If Dicky only had chosen to ignore it! Instead, he looked me up and down with a familiar precision on his face, one of detached disapproval, which always rouses the worst in me.

"THE TROUBLE WITH YOU—"

"You're a wonder," he said at last. "It would be a mighty interesting thing to study the beatings of that alleged brain of yours. If only your mind could be trapped or something like that so a person could look into it. Here I've been grandrapping in brass for days as Sir Galahad, Joseph, St. Anthony and Augustine, Dowd, and taking your part in everything that came up. Almost any other wife would appreciate the way I've been acting, but here, the first thing I said of you, you make a thousand-foot ascension, and call me a Grand Turk. The trouble with you, my lady, is that I've never been Grand Turk enough. If I'd kept a tight rein on you all these years you wouldn't prance quite so much now."

If only some automatic muzzle could be contrived which at the first symptom of a family row would spring to the jaws of both husband and wife and clamp them tightly until their temper passed, I believe many a domestic war would be averted. There is no cleverness so fiendish as that with which an angry husband or wife can find the raw spot on the other's nerves, and proceed to drop it upon it.

At Dicky's stinging phrases I forgot the long wonderful summer we had had, unspoiled by recriminations, and I seized instinctively, almost subconsciously, the weapon surest to flick him upon the raw.

A MISCHIEVOUS THOUGHT.

"I did not realize," I said lolly, pretending to take seriously the reference to Sir Galahad which he had made jestingly, "that you were making so strenuous a sacrifice in repelling Miss Dean's fascinations. Pray do not let any thought of me stand in your way, for it doesn't matter a whit to me one way or the other. Another type of wife, as you say, would no doubt appreciate your heroic efforts, but, really, I cannot see any particular reason in your behavior why I should give up my own individuality in dress."

I walked into the little bedroom as I spoke, and closed the door with more rudeness than dignity upon Dicky's retorting speech, which began as I was.

"Well, if individuality in dress for you means knee pants, let me tell you—"

The closing door punctured his retort with a full stop. I guessed with that part of my brain which was cool underneath the anger that he accepted the slamming door for what it meant, a summary of my opinion to the effect that I did not wish him to finish his sentence, which I was sure would be a distinct command to wear the skirt to my mountain kit, or then the feminine obstinacy which I mentally camouflaged as self-respect, would have compelled me to omit it. And I knew that he was just as anxious to avoid a distinct issue as I was.

The slam I had given the door had given vent to a great deal of my choler, and the rest of it vanished as soon as I let my anger out of humor out of the tail end into which I had shut it at Dicky's strictures. The whole thing, after all, was so silly! Yet how to mend it without giving him completely something which my knowledge of Dicky had taught me was a most unwise thing to do after his outburst—that was my problem.

I knew that if I could make Dicky laugh even the remembrance of the quarrel would be blotted out, and with a sudden mischievous thought I slipped out of the bedroom door—every room in the house has an outside door—and slipped away from the privacy of her own room.

"Well me," I demanded, "have you, by any chance, one of those old-fashioned skirts that almost sweep the floor in length?"

"I'm saving 'em till the fool fashions swing around so we have to sweep up all the dirt in the road again. Then I'll be right in style. If a woman would only be patient and not throw away her clothes she would be in advance of the latest about every seven years."

"Will you lend me one for a few days?" I asked. "I'll promise not to injure it."

Vamps

With studied air—
And eyes—
That looked appraisingly—
On all who passed—
The Vamp—keen witted—
Picked her way—
Along the city's thoroughfare—
The cold set face—
The penciled brow—
The smooth coiffure—
And luring form—
Were but the tools—keen edged—
She plied—
Her cruel, Satanic occupation—
And from the corners of her eyes—
With calculating certainty—
She marked her game—
And fledging youth—
Full belted—wise—
Who passed her by—
With sneer or snicker—
She gave small heed—
For well she knew—
The shallow depths—
Of both, his soul—
And his resources.

But soon there passed her in the crowd—
A pudgy fool—
Of mature years—
And eyes that showed the money greed—
And as he made his way along—
On gouty feet—
Gold-headed cane supported—
She gave the flash—
He answered from a brain conceited—
And soon in smiling tete-a-tete—
In dining hall—
He beamed enraptured—
This rapid duce—
This wreck impotent.

And as they sat at sumptuous feast—
With smutted stories all enlivened—
A maiden sat not far away—
And blushed—with wounded modesty—
At shame of sister—
And men who passed this maid demure—
In modest lawn and simple guimpe—
Paid instant reverence—
With eyes that held the picture still—
Of mother's face—
When in the long ago she was
Their Dad's own sweetheart—
And as they passed in homage there—
The hawk—whose talons itched for gold—
Leaned forward and in hard voice said—
To drooling mate—
"The dirty Vamp!"

Clarice Patterns

(No. 1425)

Full figured and stout women have discovered that the old-fashioned well-fitted dress is not near as satisfactory as the semi-fitted frock. The one illustrated which was especially designed to enhance slimmess could probably be made in a day at the approximate cost given above if printed voile at 65c a yard is used with organdie at 75c a yard as contrasting material. This style would look very becoming if made in georgette but the cost would then be greater because, for a good grade of georgette, you would have to pay about $1.50 a yard; if you decide upon georgette, use printed material with plain georgette in contrast. Some women would prefer foulard with plain silk as contrasting material, but either voile, georgette or foulard would do very nicely.

The pattern No. 1425 cuts in sizes 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52 inches bust measure. Size 46 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material with 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch contrasting material. Price 15c, stamps or coin.

Geraldine's SHOULDERS

Listen, World!

THIS is a true story. Aren't you ashamed of yourself? I'm mad! I'm so mad that every time I breathe I feel like an acetylene torch. And the person I'm mad at is YOU. Listen because, you know, for the Great Horn Spoon I'm going to give you your compensation if it lies within the English language to do it.

I was waiting at the busiest corner in town, watching for a chance to worm my way through a boiling mass of trucks, street cars, autos, small boys, fat men and nervous ladies. It's a bad corner and you need a limber heel to make your getaway. Suddenly at my elbow I felt a pressure and a tapping. I looked down and saw a tiny, infinitely wrinkled old negroess ragged, frail, and totally blind. She was feeling her way with a cane—teaching out toward that seething crosswalk.

"Can I help you?" I said.

"The old hand clutched my sleeve, the blind face quivered as she thanked me. I could not understand her motion. It seemed such a little thing to do. We started—and then I understood. For the eyes that looked at us were not friendly nor pitiful. They were wide with surprise. Her nose began to sizzle in my heart. She spoke, and it leaped like a flame.

"Are you white?" she said.

"Yes—why?"

"Because—" the old voice quavered with indignation—"because there's lots that ain't white in this street besides me, ma'm. I've walked eight blocks and not a one has offered to help me get across. I asked one woman to

The following document is more than a personal letter. It's a constructive analysis and criticism of our educational system by one who is qualified, both through teaching and motherhood, to size up the situation. I particularly like the part about "sarcasm." Once in a great while sarcasm is an effective and desirable weapon. Usually it is the cruel expedient of a mean spirit.

Dear Jerry: Even my fountain pen began to itch when I read your article concerning teachers in today's TRIBUNE. I have taught both before and after the war and have a ten-year-old son in school, so am interested in this subject. But please don't think I am prejudiced in favor of married women teaching. I'm married. My views are colored by my desire to see my son as well as other children have the BEST. Son's worst teacher was a married woman of 40. The older woman had three children. The latter had none. Seems to me that argues that ability to understand children belongs to the individual rather than to her state of matrimony. One who has been a mother neither knows nor understands some of its needs better because of home experience. Were I teaching small folks again, however, I should permit children to leave the room for reasonable intervals, provided the same child didn't ask too frequently, and shouldn't even care whether they needed to go or not.

I can't see why the school board should be concerned whether a teacher is married, unless home duties interfered with school work. I do think, though, that some member of that excellent board should do more watching of the actual school room. Some work should be weeded out. I had a most delightful (not) experience with public schools during my first year in Oakland. Hubby was in military service (now army) and son and I returned to America. I caused the nation needed workers and I needed money I went to work, leaving son with a friend during the day. In August he began school, to leave the room for reasonable intervals, provided the same child didn't ask too frequently, and shouldn't even care whether they needed to go or not.

ALICE: I've read your letter over and over and must confess that I DON'T know what you mean. I don't know what you possibly do wrong without knowing it, and I can't conceive a twenty-year-old girl NOT going when she is HURTING HERSELF by breaking the moral code. I'm truly sorry if I've misunderstood your letter, but I really don't know what you're trying to tell me. If you are sincere and wish to do so, write me again and I promise that your letter will be kept absolutely confidential.

BRAIN TESTS

by Sam Loyd

I Minute to Answer This.

This robust sketch suggests the name of a beautiful flower that frequently adorns the cottage porch. What is it?

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S.

JET plus ROWEL minus TROWEL plus MIMIC plus ELL plus BOW minus ICE minus BR plus BOW minus CORN minus CORN leaves JEMIMA.

Then I put son in a private school where my complaints were taken any, or greed, he will enter public high school in two years, but I'll tell the world if my public school experience with teachers is repeated. I'll see that matters are mended. If I have to dynamite the whole eleventh floor of the city hall, I'll pay these teachers and members of the board and they shall not give me such service for my money again. It's my opinion that an uprising on the part of parents in general would be beneficial to the educational department. Some of those people are so book-musty they have no common sense left, and they appear to think they are lords of creation and may tread on the rest of us as they choose.

Here's another thing that I don't think much of. Teachers often feel called on to understand the faults better than virtues of the children and attract by biting sarcasm. Even many of the university professors indulge this habit, which seems to be developed in the teaching type of mind. I despise it. Withering sarcasm blights the spirit. Contact with the pupils, to be helpful, must be made through understanding. Kindness and breadth of vision. Sarcasm narrows both user and "usee." A very little of it, generously garnished with humor, may be permissible at rare intervals. At home I often show son to himself in a humorous sort of way, teaching him to laugh at himself. He does the same by me. We apologize to each other for our mistakes, laugh at them, and forget them.

LORENE.

P. S.—I think teachers should be paid enough so they could take every fourth of fifth year off for self-improvement, and should be required to improve so much in their own way that they could be of help to the community. This would help to keep them out of the rut and save their nerves.

IRMA: Dear Little Pat, Jerry is so sorry for your friendless life and wishes that she could help make up; just a little, for what you are missing. I always wonder, when I hear of parents like your father, whether or not they haven't had some bitter experience, or fear, that makes them so strict. It doesn't seem natural—rather it is a state of being over-cautious through a fear of something that has happened. Have you tried talking it over with him? Have you made a loving effort to get the whys and wherefores of his strictness? You are "of age" when you are 18 and cannot be forced into a convent by anyone. Little girl, I tell you, that you are a real value, and I'm believing you entirely, but I can't help but think that there is something behind your Dad's attitude. Make a "try" to find out, will you, a REAL one?

ALICE: I've read your letter over and over and must confess that I DON'T know what you mean. I don't know what you possibly do wrong without knowing it, and I can't conceive a twenty-year-old girl NOT going when she is HURTING HERSELF by breaking the moral code. The Return of Odysseus

CHAPTER 112

THE son of Odysseus was named Telemachus. Perhaps he had the nickname of "Tel." At any rate, let's call him that today.

Tel grew to be a fine youth, but he was never known his father. After he was in his teens, he became more and more nervous. One day he decided to go out and search for Odysseus.

Far and wide Tel traveled. He talked to kings and princes who had taken part in the Trojan war; but in vain. The father had not been seen since the fall of Troy.

When Tel was about 20 years old, the goddess Athena came to him and told him to go back to Ithaca. He did so and met his father, who had finally returned. The nobles had grown so bold that they were now living in the palace instead of just visiting last that his master had come back. Brushing a tear from his cheek, Odysseus went to find his wife. On his way he met the rude nobles, who had upon the bold that they were actually living in the palace. With the help of Tel, the returning king drove them away, and once more he was united to his loving and faithful wife.

FOLKS and THINGS

stupid girls, ugly girls, and some of them are good and some are bad. It all depends upon the place where she works, not upon the work she does or wants to do, but upon the girl.

As to the talk of temptations in Paris, any American girl who makes her own way in the world, knows well enough what this so-called "temptation" means. She meets it from the first minute she goes down town to earn her salary. Till the last day she holds her youth and her attraction, and she doesn't care a snap about it—one way or the other.

PARIS, ALONE?

She sees other girls falling by the wayside and she's sorry for them. Sometimes her heart aches with pity, but she goes on without thought to a human soul. No one says much about her, we all take her as a matter of course—the brave, honest, self-respecting, modest, warm-hearted, sensible, American girl who can walk upon hot coals and never feel a wound, or if she does feel it, never let anyone know about it.

This world is no kindergarten for a girl who has her own way to make, whether she's a singer, or a poet, or a stenographer and the sooner such a girl as that takes Mrs. Common Sense for her chaperone and never stirs a step away from that duenna the better off both she and the world will be.

PARIS ALONE? No, not even the Garden of Eden alone—for a girl who doesn't know how to take care of herself. There was Eve, you know, and she found the snake.

ODD FACTS

The late ruler of Persia, Shah Nasred-din, introduced wholesale the practices he observed on a visit to Paris. After a visit to the ballet here he commanded all the women in his establishment to adopt ballet costumes. Other harems followed this royal fashion hint and the ballet costume is a popular indoor dress for all Persian women.

Laurel leaves in olden times were believed to communicate the spirit of poetry. Hence the custom of crowning the poets, and of putting laurel leaves under one's pillow to acquire inspiration.

CHAPTER 41.

The Lone Robber.

The most picturesque train robber of the present century is Harry Gardner, now serving 15 years at Leavenworth penitentiary following his capture in Phoenix, Ariz., while attempting to rob a mail car.

Gardner's spectacular escapes while shackled to guards and his final feat of making a getaway from McNeil Island Federal penitentiary, from which no man had ever escaped before, has made this bandit a sort of hero to the millions of the public eye.

Not even Deadwood Dick nor the famous Nick Carter appealed to the morbid enthusiasm of sentimentalists to the same extent as did Roy Gardner.

Gardner is a typical example of the "lone wolf" type of outlaw as distinguished from the gangster. He is by no means a clever criminal. Rather one would say that he was a high grade scoundrel who looked upon his robberies as mere boyish escapades and who did not take prisons seriously.

Like most crooks he was a wanderer and hobo, having run away from medical school when 18 years old and traveled about the country. He fought prizefights under the name of "Young Fitzsimmons" and was Jim Jeffries' sparring partner for the famous "Rabbit" fight. In a sporting, gambling atmosphere.

In 1911 he was captured while entering a Market street jewelry store in San Francisco and given five years at San Quentin. He was known as "Sammy Cox" and aided the prison authorities in suppressing what is known as the "bread riot" at which time he was severely stabbed.

He was next heard of as a teacher of acetylene welding in school at Davenport, Ia. While in the East he and two others held up a train at Centerville, Ia., getting $54,000 and fleeing with it to Tijuana, Mexico, where he gambled away the money. In 1920 he robbed a mail truck at San Diego of $87,000, was "squealed" on by an ex-convict who learned of the job, and was sentenced to 25 years on McNeil Island, a place near Tacoma, Wash.

En route to the Island Gardner attacked a Deputy United States Marshal, took his gun, forced him to unlock the handcuffs, took the officer's money and jumped from the train.

This was his first spectacular escape which brought him into the public eye. For months he was sought by the Federal authorities and police.

A woman—the factor that has caused the downfall of more crooks than any other one thing—brought Gardner into the hands of the police. He was gambled away the money. This was his first spectacular escape which brought him into the public eye. For months he was sought by the Federal authorities and police.

A woman—the factor that has caused the downfall of more crooks than any other one thing—brought Gardner into the hands of the police. He was gambled away the money. In 1920 he robbed a mail truck at San Diego of $87,000, was "squealed" on by an ex-convict who learned of the job, and was sentenced to 25 years on McNeil Island, a place near Tacoma, Wash.

En route to the Island Gardner attacked a Deputy United States Marshal, took his gun, forced him to unlock the handcuffs, took the officer's money and jumped from the train.

BANK CLEARINGS STEADILY GAINING IN AUSTRALIA

Continued Improvement in Balance of Trade Is U. S. Report.

Cable advices received at the Department of Commerce from Commissioner Sanger, Melbourne, states that the financial and industrial situation in Australia continues to improve as shown by the increased bank clearings and savings deposits in banks. A continued increase in the favorable balance of trade is shown. Labor conditions remain unsettled. The cost of living still continues to climb.

The rate of exchange quoted on the pound in Melbourne has declined to $4.46 on July 15 as against $4.47 on June 15.

Both checking and savings deposits in banks continue to increase and bank clearances are showing a continued upward trend. The financial condition is favorable and shows an indication of continued domestic activity.

The Federal government financial report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, shows a large deficit. The expenditures for the year were $55,100,000, as against $56,072,674 for the fiscal year June 30, 1921. The revenue for the year was $53,000,000, as against $55,765,165 for the previous year.

The monthly returns of the Australian Department of Trade and Customs for the month of June indicate a healthy condition of foreign trade over the preceding month. Total imports of $3,810,000 for May showed a decrease from the April figure of $4,250,000. Total exports for May were valued at $1,580,000, as against $1,600,000 for April. The trade shows a balance favorable to Australia of $2,230,000.

The foreign trade just made public indicates that imports from the United States during that month amounted to $2,250,000, while the exports to the United States totaled $1,000,000, the total showing a large increase in imports and a small decrease in exports over the previous month.

The labor outlook is still disquieting. The unemployment situation has not changed and the opposition against the Labor Arbitration Board is growing. Although there are repeated threats of serious strikes because of wage reductions, it is unlikely that any will occur of great importance.

The cost of living registered an increase of 2.70 per cent in May as compared with the previous month. The fact which shows that there is continued labor difficulties, as wages are based upon the Commonwealth Statistician's retail index number. The Melbourne index number for May is 134.1, compared with 148.2 in 1921 on the basis of 1910 for July, 1914.

Immigration continues normal. The government of the State Government is offering many inducements to immigrants from England.

The stock of free wool not yet sold on July 1 is 122,000 bales. The stock of W. R. A. not yet sold June 1 was 891,000 bales as against 952,000 bales on May 1. The estimate of the new season's wool production of all grades of Australian wool to July 1 is based on arrivals in stores is 649,000 bales.

General Motors Income Jumps Net Earnings of Almost $300,000 Reported for Half of Year.

Net earnings of $299,391 after all charges for the six months ending June 30, 1922, approximately $6,200,000 net has been added to reserves for depreciation of real estate, plants and equipment. The balance in the account for depreciation is slightly over $4,700,000.

All loans at banks were paid off by June 30, 1922, and except for approximately $3,400,000 of purchase money mortgages, no indebtedness underlying its preferred and debenture stocks except ordinary current accounts payable for merchandise, payroll, taxes and other accounts.

Net working capital as of June 30, 1922, was approximately $12,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 from the condition at December 31, 1921.

Inventories, which at December 31, 1921, were written down to cost or market (whichever was lower) are well balanced and during the month have been reduced to below $98,000,000. The reduction of some $10,000,000 has been effected partly because of efficient control of stocks and partly because of export conditions.

"In connection with a readjustment of assets at December 31, 1921, a reserve, in the amount of $1,000,000, was set up to cover anticipated losses and unforeseen contingencies pertaining to prior period, but not definitely ascertainable. During the first six months of this year losses and charges off against the reserve to the extent of approximately $6,250,000, leaving a balance in December 31, 1922, of approximately $7,500,000."

During the six months' period ending June 30, 1922, approximately $6,200,000 net has been added to reserves for depreciation of real estate, plants and equipment. The balance in the account for depreciation is slightly over $4,700,000.

Net working capital as of June 30, 1922, was approximately $12,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 from the condition at December 31, 1921.

Inventories, which at December 31, 1921, were written down to cost or market (whichever was lower) are well balanced and during the month have been reduced to below $98,000,000. The reduction of some $10,000,000 has been effected partly because of efficient control of stocks and partly because of export conditions.

"In connection with a readjustment of assets at December 31, 1921, a reserve, in the amount of $1,000,000, was set up to cover anticipated losses and unforeseen contingencies pertaining to prior period, but not definitely ascertainable. During the first six months of this year losses and charges off against the reserve to the extent of approximately $6,250,000, leaving a balance in December 31, 1922, of approximately $7,500,000."
